REPORT

ON STAKEHOLDERS' CONSULTATIVE TOWN HALL MEETING FOR CITIZENS' INPUTS INTO THE PROPOSED 2027 KANO STATE BUDGET AT KARAYE LOCAL GOVERNMENT AREA 13 SEPTEMBER 2026

Introduction

The Kano Budget Working Group (KBWG), in collaboration with the Kano State Ministry of Planning and Budget and Bridge Connect Africa Initiative, conducted a stakeholders' consultative town hall meeting at Karaye Local Government Area on 13 September 2026. The consultation formed part of a wider citizen engagement process being undertaken across the five clusters (Bichi, Gaya, Karaye, Kano and Rano) of Kano state which covered 44 LGAs of the state to generate, document and prioritize citizens' demands for possible consideration in the proposed 2027 Kano State Budget.

The exercise was designed to strengthen inclusive and participatory budgeting by providing citizens and community stakeholders with an opportunity to identify priority needs affecting their communities, understand the state budget process, and engage constructively with government and civil society actors.

The consultation also built in line with the provisions of section 10(3) the Kano State Public Financial Management law 2020 which provides for the collation of citizens' inputs for possible incorporation into the state budget.

Purpose and Objectives

To sensitize citizens and stakeholders on the importance of public budgeting and citizen participation in budget process.

To generate and document priority citizens' demands for possible consideration in the 2027 Kano State Budget.

To promote continuous engagement between government institutions, citizens, community-based organizations and other stakeholders throughout the budget cycle.

To strengthen citizens' understanding of the stages of the budget cycle, from planning and preparation through legislative review, approval, assent, implementation, monitoring and evaluation.

To encourage citizens and CSOs to monitor approved projects and public services, document progress and gaps, and provide constructive feedback to relevant authorities and ownership of the projects.

To promote inclusive budgeting that considers gender, social inclusion, environmental sustainability and climate resilience.

Participation and Representation

The meeting brought together community-based organizations (CBOs), community representatives, traditional and religious leaders, women's groups, farmer groups, Pensioners, youth representatives, persons with disabilities (PWDs), and other relevant stakeholders. Representatives of the Kano State Ministry of Planning and Budget and Bridge Connect Africa Initiative also participated in the consultation.

The broad representation provided an opportunity for participants to present perspectives from different segments of the community and to identify priorities affecting vulnerable and underserved groups and communities.

Proceedings and Presentations

The meeting commenced with an opening prayer by volunteer, followed by introductory remarks and an orientation on the objectives of the consultation. The facilitator, Sagir Salihu Chedi, welcomed participants and encouraged active and constructive participation in the process.

Participants were taken through the meaning and importance of public budgeting, including how government revenue is generated and allocated to programs, projects and public services. The discussion emphasized that citizens' participation should not end with the submission of budget proposals, but should continue through implementation, monitoring and evaluation constructive engagement with government, legislatures other relevant stakeholders and providing evidence base feedback more advocacy and follow up.

A key focus of the meeting was the transition from budget-demand generation to budget implementation tracking. The facilitator stressed that effective citizen engagement requires citizens and CSOs to follow up on demands submitted, monitor approved projects and assess whether government commitments are being implemented as intended.

Participants were encouraged to broaden their monitoring beyond individual projects to include public services and sectoral interventions within their communities. They were also encouraged to document implementation progress, identify gaps or challenges, and provide constructive feedback through appropriate government and stakeholder channels.

Participants were introduced to the major stages of the budget cycle, including planning, preparation, legislative review and approval, assent, implementation, monitoring and evaluation. The sessions emphasized the importance of understanding these stages so that citizens and CSOs can engage government constructively and track commitments made through the approved budget.

Sectoral Discussions and Citizens' Priorities

The consultation focused on priority needs across key sectors, including education, healthcare, agriculture, infrastructure, water resources, persons with disability, environment and climate resilience. Participants were encouraged to identify needs based on their community realities and to prioritize interventions that could improve access to essential services, livelihoods and community wellbeing.

A practical citizens' input/demand-generation exercise was conducted using a customized template. Participants were guided to identify and prioritize demands across the relevant sectors. The submissions will be consolidated and categorized by sector and location, prioritized and reviewed presented as citizens' recommendations for possible consideration in the 2027 Kano State Budget.

Key Reflections from Participants

A major reflection from the consultation was the appreciation expressed by participants for the opportunity to contribute directly to public budgeting and for previous citizens' submissions that had reportedly been reflected in some government interventions and projects. This experience strengthened participants' confidence that constructive citizen engagement can contribute to responsive budgeting and improved service delivery.

The discussions therefore moved beyond the traditional emphasis on merely submitting budget demands. Participants were encouraged to take ownership of the process by combining demand generation with advocacy, stakeholder engagement, monitoring and evidence-based feedback.

Role of CSOs and Community Stakeholders

The meeting highlighted the important role of CSOs, CBOs and community structures in sustaining citizen engagement throughout the budget cycle. Participants were encouraged to share budget information within their communities, support community-level monitoring, document implementation experiences and engage relevant authorities in a constructive and non-aggressive and confrontational manner.

Community stakeholders were also encouraged to ensure that the voices of women, youth, persons with disabilities and other potentially marginalized groups are reflected in budget advocacy and monitoring activities.

Outcomes and Commitments

- Citizens and stakeholders gained improved understanding of public budgeting and the budget cycle.
- Priority community demands were generated for consolidation and possible consideration in the 2027 Kano State Budget.
- Participants recognized the importance of linking budget submissions with implementation tracking and accountability.
- Participants committed to monitoring approved projects and interventions and documenting implementation progress, gaps and ownership of the project.
- Participants agreed to strengthen advocacy and engagement with relevant government authorities, legislators, traditional institutions and other stakeholders through intensive use of conventional and social media effectively.

- The consultation strengthened collaboration among citizens, CSOs, government representatives and other stakeholders.

Lessons Learnt and experience sharing

A major concern was raised by participant was lack of implementation of citizens input and demands submitted during previous budget consultations,

Participant lamented that citizens are consulted but many of the issues and demands submitted are either not incorporated in the final budget or are not implemented.

Participant from Rogo LGA further expressed concern that, in some cases projects that have already commenced but going very slowly and it is a major road that link to so many communities without adequate explanations or feedback to the affected communities, (Road Construction in communities of Rogo - Bari to Gwangwan in Rogo local government area).

The chairman of Karaye development Initiatives also raised concern regarding poor provision of health care services in their areas.

Aisha Dederi from Dederi ward in Karaye explained that the community has only one health outpost, she further stated that the facility opens only two days in a week, one of the most serious challenges is the absent of female health worker in the facility

The representative from Shanono urged the ministry of Planning and Budget to insert the demand of key road construction from too Tsanyawa in the 2027 state budget,

Conclusion

The Karaye Local Government consultative town hall meeting provided an important platform for citizens and stakeholders to participate in the proposed 2027 Kano State budget process. Beyond generating citizens' demands, the meeting strengthened understanding of the budget cycle and promoted a more sustained approach to public accountability. The consolidation and prioritization of the demands generated during the exercise will provide a structured basis for presenting citizens' recommendations for possible consideration in the 2027 Kano State Budget.

The meeting concluded with appreciation to all participants and collaborating institutions for their contributions and commitment to an inclusive and accountable budget process.
